

Breasts the movie

Are we nipple phobic?
How, babies drink from them?
Our cultures didn't care so much?
Why is objectification bad?

How do they impact self worth?
What is modesty?
Are breasts sex objects?
Aren't they for nursing babies?

Breastfeeding vs Perverts

Unfortunately, there are a lot of sick people in the world. As I've started to reach out and network with people about this project, I've had the unfortunate experience of meeting some in various forums and messages I've received. These people just don't seem to get it. They don't want to see breasts as anything other than objects for their lust. Obviously, I TOTALLY DISAGREE with their perspective. I have [...]

Am I a Feminist?

WRITTEN BY JACE GREENWOOD ON JULY - 2 - 2011 0 COMMENT

Yesterday, while out hiking with my wife and son (I carry him on my back), we had a very interesting conversation about whether or not we are feminists. The first question we had to answer is what exactly is a feminist? We came up with a definition of feminist as: Someone who believes in furthering and protecting the rights of women. Resoundingly, without hesitation, we both agreed that YES we [...]

A Brief History of Breasts in the Western World

WRITTEN BY ELIZABETH ON JULY - 2 - 2011 0 COMMENT

Special Guest post from Jace's wife. Where did the breasts taboo come from? I'll tell you my answer up front: I don't know for sure. But I'm going to put forth a few ideas about what might have

We're Mammals Right?

 WRITTEN BY JACE GREENWOOD  ON JULY - 1 - 2011  0 COMMENT

Mammal: Any of various warm-blooded vertebrate animals of the class Mammalia, whose young feed on milk that is produced by the mother's mammary glands... The American Heritage Science Dictionary So why have humans strayed so far away from the characteristic that science has long used in classifying humans with other like animals? From my observations of the animal kingdom, I don't see any indication of breasts ever being treated as [...]

Jealousy of Breastfeeding?

 WRITTEN BY JACE GREENWOOD  ON JUNE - 29 - 2011  0 COMMENT

When my son first began nursing, I found myself actually feeling a little jealous of him. Looking around at some parenting sites, especially ones directed at fathers, they will tell you this jealousy is quite normal and then give some tips on how to work through it. If your definition of normal is that most American men feel that way, then I guess it's "normal." But, I don't agree that's [...]

Making Lactivism Accessible

 WRITTEN BY JACE GREENWOOD  ON JUNE - 29 - 2011  0 COMMENT

The genesis of Breasts: The Movie began when my wife and I drove past a Hooters and I asked her, "If you were to feed our son in there, do you think they'd kick us out?" I bet they would try. Ironical, isn't it? But the reality is, breastfeeding just doesn't further the brand image that establishment tries so hard to sell. From my perspective, the biggest hurdle we have [...]

Why a Man Became a Lactivist

 WRITTEN BY JACE GREENWOOD  ON JUNE - 28 - 2011  0 COMMENT

Most men are too busy lusting after breasts to understand what they are really for. Why has breastfeeding activism become such an important issue for me? When my son was born, my social conditioning telling me to think breasts were sex objects left me uncomfortable with breastfeeding. My wife had decided to breastfeed and I was on board with it because I supported her decision and respected her choice. In [...]

Breasts and Sexual Stimulation

 WRITTEN BY JACE GREENWOOD  ON JUNE - 28 - 2011  0 COMMENT

Leaving the objectification mindset and seeing breasts for nourishing and nurturing a child brings up some interesting questions. One topic I've heard brought up frequently is on the topic of stimulation. Since a woman can become aroused by massaging them, doesn't that make breasts sex objects and thus indecent? Shouldn't we cover them up and hide them from everyone's eyes except when in a sexual situation? This is a pretty [...]

Breasts and Sex?

 WRITTEN BY JACE GREENWOOD  ON JUNE - 25 - 2011  0 COMMENT

Now that breasts are no longer sex objects, how did that change sex with my wife? One of the first things many of my concerned male friends asked me as they saw signs of my transformation away from sexual objectification was "Isn't that ruining sex?" Well no, it got better.

My Transformation

 WRITTEN BY JACE GREENWOOD  ON JUNE - 25 - 2011  0 COMMENT

So how did a guy go from a typical American view of breasts, to no longer seeing them as sex objects? Changing my views wasn't an overnight experience. While the catalyst for change was when my son was born, my transformation began when I got married to my wonderful wife. Once I started living with a woman intimately and seeing her in all situations it was harder to keep [...]
